TRANSITION

To The Students and Faculty of Pulaski High School

Plans to move to the new Pulaski County High School have been reflected in past PHS activities. Homecoming, Winter Formal, Miss PHS and many other school functions found themselves facing the ageless theme of the end of Pulaski High School. Some other changes reflected in this year of transition were the innovation in SCA elections, teachers leaving to prepare for new facilities, and more broadly, the state of our national economy.

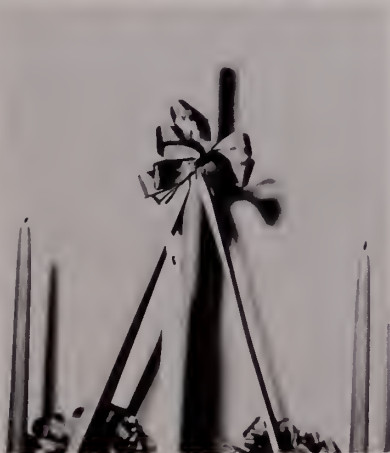

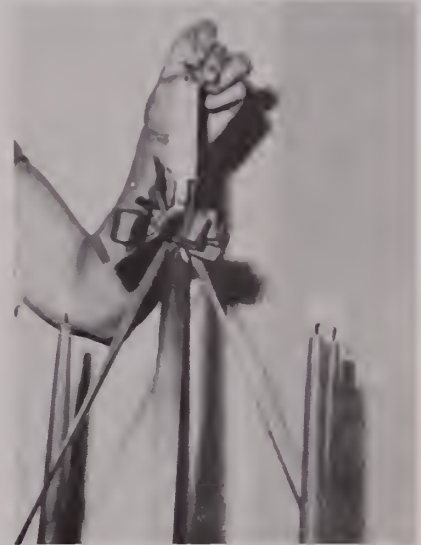

Instead of the usual student government elections, an advisory counsel of ten students was elected from the two county high schools. Teachers prepared the curriculum to be offered to PCHS students and to be included in the handbook used for course registration.

The changes in the national economy were felt by students and teachers alike. Prices in school lunches rose slightly as soaring inflation moved in. Car pools formed and bicycles appeared to help conserve what little fuel there was to be had. Heavy sweaters and down jackets were the “in” thing. Whether this was due to temperature cutbacks or for warmth while waiting in gas lines was not known — probably a combination of both.

We, as individuals could no longer ignore the reality of political crises, shortages and transition in our school itself. In fact, anticipation began to take the place of anxieties as the year wore on.

An attempt was made for the last yearbook to include the nostalgia, both bad and good as well as the enthusiasm for the future.

1973 P.H.S.

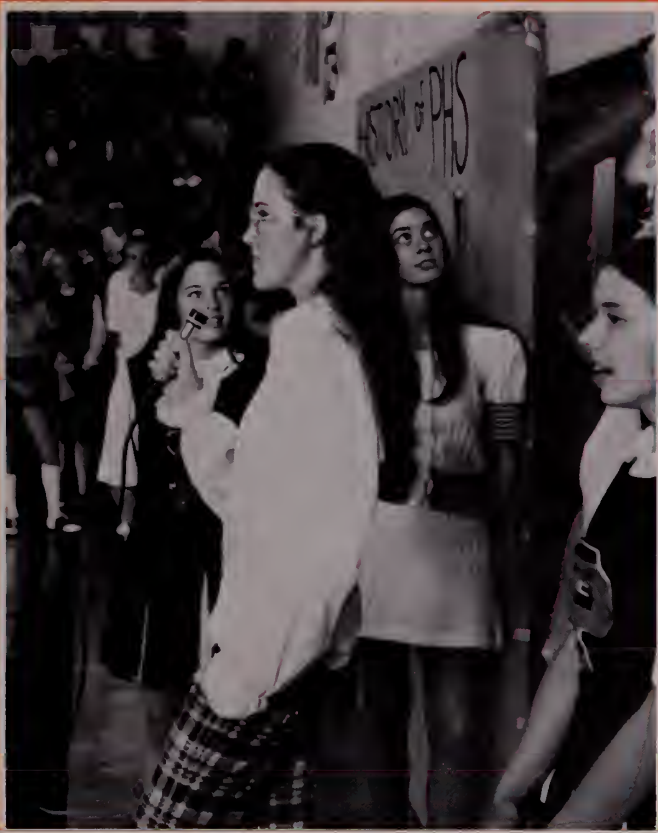

The picture . . . the caption . . .

Homecoming '73 was held September 21st. The week was filled with expectation and excitement. Clubs were involved in decorating the halls, gymnasium and cafeteria. Students divided their time among working on decorations for school and working on their class floats.

The Pep Club worked diligently to make the gymnasium look the best ever for the last homecoming.

Terry Hughes kicks the extra point to the winning touchdown.

Instead of a mini-float parade, each club decorated a portion of the halls. First place winner was the National Junior Honor Society, Second place winners were the FHA and FBLA.

Each class worked diligently on their class float. First place went to the sophomores with "Sink the Spartans". Second place was captured by the seniors with "It Will all come out in the Wash." Third place went to the juniors with their float "Clock-Work Orange." To top off Homecoming the mighty Orioles defeated the Giles Spartans by the score of 20-7.

Nothing Really Ends

Break-In and Bomb Threat

Vandals succeeded only in ruining furniture, not in gaining valuables.

The school day was interrupted by bomb threats and a break-in.

Teacher's lounges and other areas were vandalized. Gossip was started among the students about the sum of money that was taken, but the greatest damage done was to the machinery.

A bomb threat was called in on September 25, 1973 during the second period. Students were evacuated from the building, and then again during second lunch. The local police were on hand and men went throughout the building searching for the alleged bomb to no avail.

The local police arrived to search for an alleged bomb.

They Make It Tick

Mrs. Reese, Mrs. Hogue and Mrs. Jarrells make rolls for an on-rush of hungry students.

In a year of change, without the help of students, teachers giving extra time, and kitchen workers, the school could never have run so smoothly. These people deserve special credit this year amidst all the confusion of plans for the new school.

Bonnie Hughes and other students do volunteer work in the office.

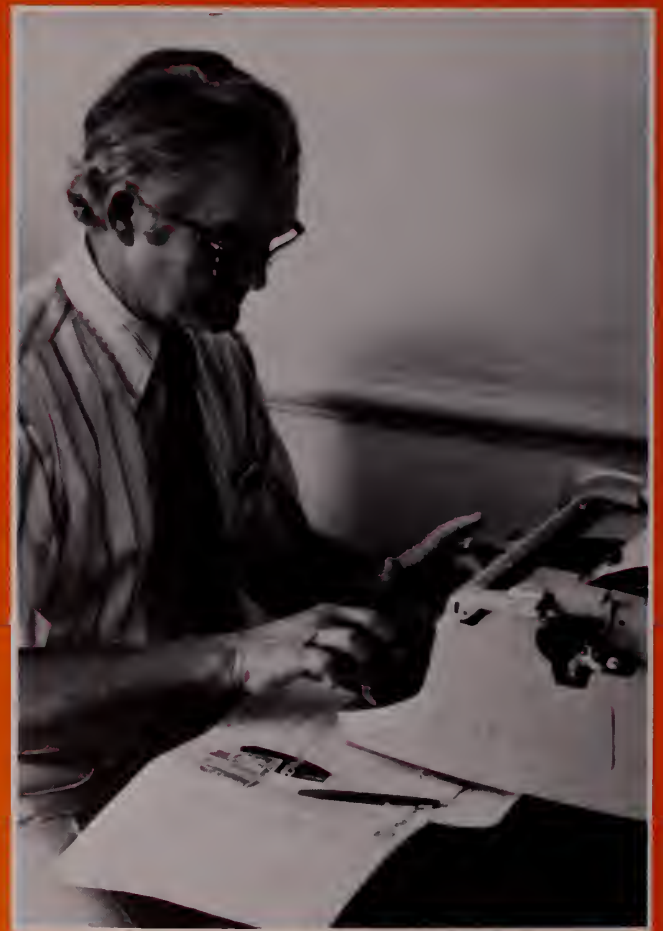

Mr. Swope and Mrs. Burnett take early morning and afternoon bus duty.

THE GREATEST CONCERN:

Mr. Phibbs demonstrates the use of surveying equipment.

Through all of the activities and social events of the school year there was still one main goal, to learn. No matter how many activities were planned the main concern of the student was to learn as much as possible. The upmost importance was placed on instruction for the present PHS and for the new Pulaski County High School. Teachers and Students alike worked with a goal in mind for the future.

“Stairway From Heaven”

On November 16, 1973, the annual Miss PHS Contest was held. The National Honor Society sponsored the pageant, carrying out the theme “Stairway from Heaven.” In so much that this would be the last Miss PHS contest, each person involved wanted this to be the best pageant ever.

Sixty girls from grades 8-12 were ushered onto the stage by senior footmen, Rick Kelly and Martin Bowers. Underneath the shimmering lights Julie Banks, a senior, was chosen queen, and Pam Miller, a sophomore, was chosen matron of honor. The crowning was done by Cathy Milstead, former Miss PHS.

The Pulaski High School Dance Band, under the direction of Robert Gemmell provided music for the pageant. Master of Ceremonies was Mr. Frank Klagges, physics teacher at PHS.

NECESSITIES BEGIN EARLY

On September 24-26, Mr. Farnum took club pictures. Each club came out by tens with its members in three or a picture made. Each group could see members were identified correctly. Physical inspection was done on September 25-27. All junior and senior were called to the gymnasium for inspection by the boys.

LAST SUMMER had special interest for six students at PHS. Three of these students, Robert Gemmell, Martin Bowers, and Jeannie Whitman, were chosen as members of the Governor's School for the gifted. Rodney Ratcliffe and Shawn Harrell attended an art workshop at Ferrum College. A scholarship was given to Nola Vanhoy to attend a science institute.

ROBERT GEMMELL, a senior, attended the Mary Baldwin Center. His two main areas of study were mathematics and organic chemistry. His mathematics class dealt with probability and statistics. In his chemistry class he studied methods of handling organic compounds. He also completed work on a project of electroculture.

ALSO ATTENDING the Mary Baldwin Center was Martin Bowers, a senior. He took courses in computer programming and in organic chemistry. He found the opportunity to work sophisticated equipment invaluable. In addition to his main classes, he also participated in interest groups. These groups included computer games, use of the slide rule and calculator, and open forum, which was a discussion on scientific phenomena.

CARSON NEWMAN COLLEGE was the setting for a scholarship given to Nola Vanhoy. She received this scholarship to attend a National Science Foundation Institute. She took classes in biology and chemistry. Structured organic chemistry labs were another activity which she was involved in. She also completed a research project on water pollution. For her work at Carson Newman, she will receive six semester hours in biology and chemistry if she attends the college. She is presently a senior.

SHAWN HARRELL was accepted to an art workshop where she majored in ceramics and weaving. In her weaving course she learned the processes involved in both traditional and conventional weaving. As a result she purchased a loom on which she has continued her work. The ceramics class stressed the mixing and use of individual glazes as well as commercial ones. She has also built her own kiln.

JEANNIE WHITMAN, a junior, completed a stay at Mary Washington. The courses she studied were fine arts. As a member of this class she attended such performances as the ones given by the National Ballet and the Cleveland Symphony. Featured speakers at Mary Washington included Governor Holton.

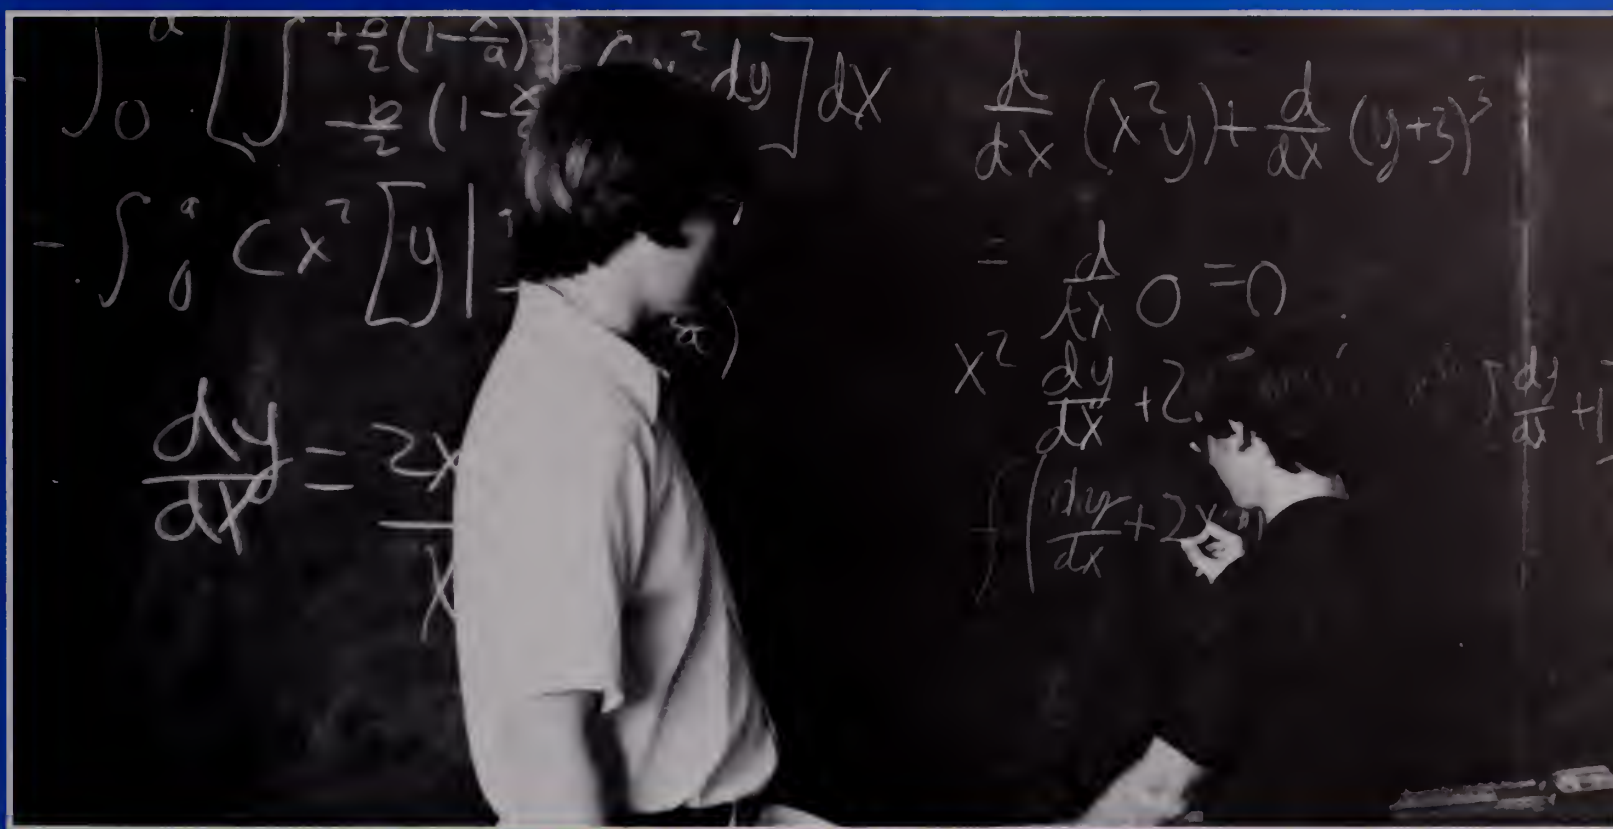

RODNEY RATCLIFFE, a senior, was chosen to participate in a photography course offered. During this course, he was allowed to use many facilities of which he had little previous knowledge. He was able to use resources such as a darkroom, with freedom. Field trips included visits to Roanoke galleries, Fairystone Park, Farmer's Market, and surrounding areas of Ferrum.

Summer Institutes Further Students Interests

People Who Really Care

Many changes occurred in the last year of PHS, but one of the most valuable was the addition of Frank Klagges to the faculty. He and his wife, Barbara (a substitute teacher) grew to be two of the friendliest aspects of student-teacher relationships.

Along with teaching duties Mr. and Mrs. Klagges sponsored YMCA dances, science club field trips, and gave hours of time to help coach the girl's gymnastics team.

Perhaps the greatest learning experience gained from knowing the Klagges' was the insight that a teacher can be a friend to students and relate on their own level without losing the students' respect or admiration.

Bloodmobile Pays Visit To PHS

Mrs. Curnie Combiths is aided by student volunteers Melissa Swain and Brenda Riggle as she prepares Danny Dalton for giving blood.

George Thompson takes the ear prick test as one of the many preparations for donating blood.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile Unit came to PHS on February 27th. The bloodmobile was sponsored by the senior class. Over 60 pints were collected with many coming from faculty and students over 18 years old. Many of these pints were donated to special cases.

Candidates and Reptiles Make for Excitement

Working Toward Unity In

- 1 One of the activities which was modified was the election of Student government officers. Instead of the usual SCA elections, a Student Advisory Council was formed this past year.

Students were nominated by their classmates, and a screening committee chose nominees from this group. A total of five students from PHS were elected for these offices, along with five students from Dublin High. These students will work closely with administrative officials in planning activities and student related functions. Members of the newly elected SCA are Jeannie Whitman, Mark Vaughan, Lynn Thrasher, Mike Mooney and Zondra Barns.

- 2 Teaching Staff for the Pulaski County High School and Middle Schools were chosen from present county schools. For the past two years teachers met in conferences and workshops to develop their curriculums and improve their skills. In District M Art work shop to learn about centrifugal casting is Mrs. Edna Love, Mrs. Lyndall Mason, Mrs. Martha Ireson and Mrs. Sally Hendricks, art teachers.

- 3 Dewey Wilson, Principal of Pulaski County High School works on scale model of gymn floor.

- 4 Increased help is needed to feed the expected nineteen hundred people in the new cafeteria. Mrs. Lillian Holliday of Pulaski High School trains, Mrs. Sarah Duncan, one of the several persons hired.

School And Community

1 Sharmin Viers and Kevin Williams, children of school personnel, are enthralled by the happenings in the school office.

2. The opportunity to write script and have a youth program on Radio WBLB was a challenge to Shawn Harrell, Clay Davis, Mark Golliday.

3 Local businesses support students in their activities. Debra Barns and Tina Karopchinsky demonstrate sketching and stained glass window art in a student show at Va. National Bank.

4 In support of the March of Dimes a walk-a-thon was planned by members of the FBLA. Making with Robert Willett and Mrs. Dottie Hall are Debbie Gates, Denise Lemmon, Mrs. Brockman, Jesse Taylor and Bill Byrd.

Seniors Move Toward Graduation

At the beginning of the school year talks of graduation began. Finally the last year of high school had come.

Throughout the year seniors were involved with ordering announcements, measuring for caps and gowns and having senior pictures made. These activities took up a lot of time and energy. There didn't seem to be much time left for other school activities.

Perhaps one reason for this was that seniors weren't "seniors", a labeled group. They were "individuals" searching for reasons and explanations. The glamour of activities had faded, and the reality of jobs and college loomed ahead.

As graduation drew near, it was noticed that many of these people had become mature adults who began to care about problems and crises.

REWARDS

The profession of teaching has its rewards for those who give a greater part of their life working with students. In the teacher's earlier years, they impart knowledge to eager minds and are often repaid by seeing a student upon completion of his own education return and teach side by side the master teacher. Mrs. Bird is such a teacher and upon her retirement this June, the transition will be made from demanding pace to a less hectic, but exciting future. Mrs. Bird has gone on to see some of her students receive outstanding awards. Some of her past students receiving awards this year are:

Bill Hogans — Athletic Scholarship to East Tennessee State.
Martin Bowers — Academic Scholarship to Lenoir-Rhyne College.
Judy Hall — Academic Grant and Aid to New River
Mary Worrell — Academic Grant and Aid to New River.
Karen Hanks — Marguerite Crumley Business Scholarship.
Richard Kelly — Academic Scholarship to Davidson College.
Nola Vanhoy — Academic Scholarship to Carson-Newman College.

And Awards

Robert Gemmell

Leon Myers

Mike Yonce

Rick Congrove will submit a paper to the VIAS on his environmental science project.

Recognition of the best in performance, skills, and creativity are the honors that go to a few. The students were chosen by their peers in competition with students from area schools, and given scholarships by colleges, organizations, and by local industries.

Robert M. Gemmell, senior at Pulaski High School, took one of the two Grand Awards in the 21st Annual Western Virginia Regional Science Fair at Roanoke College in Salem on Saturday. He will receive an expense-paid trip to the 25th International Science and Engineering Fair at the University of Notre Dame in South Bend, Ind., May 6-11, where he will compete with regional science fair winners from all parts of the nation. The Grand Award also includes a trip to the International Fair for the teacher-sponsor, Mrs. Elrica S. Graham. Gemmell was the top winner in the biological science division, and Miss Debbie Howard of Liberty High School, Bedford, won the grand award in the physical science division.

Gemmell's Project was titled "Electrophysiological Response of Mimosa pudica to Emotional and Environmental Stimulation." He built sensitive electrical equipment to detect the electrical changes in current within the cells of mimosa plants when stimulated by different types of music, light, heat, contact, gases, water, alcohol, and sound. Gemmell spent about a year and a half on his project. He concluded that the plants have no preference in music, but reacted to almost all physical stimulation. He found no evidence on extra-sensory perception in the tests.

Gemmell also received an Air Force Award for the most outstanding project in the field of Botany, and the American Speech and Hearing Award in the field of audiology. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Gemmell of Pulaski, and plans to enter Georgia Tech this summer to study electrical engineering.

Another Pulaski High School student, Leon K. Myers, won first place in the Chemistry division with his project, "Factors Affecting Growth of Chrome Alum Crystals." His study has been conducted over a two-and-one-half year period and has resulted in the growth of several large, perfectly-formed chrome alum crystals, one of which weighs over six pounds. He has made several original discoveries, including the development of a type of "chrome alum clay" which can be used for repair jobs on growing crystals. Myers plans to continue his research, using other chemicals. He will present a paper on his project at the Virginia Junior Academy of Science meeting to be held at Old Dominion College in Norfolk in May. He hopes to learn whether or not he has set a record for home-grown crystals. Myers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Myers of Pulaski, also won an Air Force Award for the most outstanding project in the field of Chemistry. He will be a senior at Pulaski County High School next fall.

Also exhibiting at The Regional Science Fair was another Pulaski High School senior, Michael D. Yonce, his project titled "AM Broadcast Band Transmitter." Yonce, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Yonce, plans to enter Va. Tech in the fall and major in engineering.

Band Earns Superior Rating

ALL-REGIONAL BAND: Linda Lewey, second chair flute, symphonic band; Kathy Holston, first chair bass clarinet, symphonic band; Robin Fagg, second chair, oboe symphonic band. Last row: Tom Hagerman, third chair trumpet, symphonic band; Becky Corder, sixth chair trumpet, concert band; Susan Deaton, thirteenth chair clarinet, symphonic band; Walter Huff, first alternate alto clarinet; John Shockley, sixth chair trombone, concert band; Robert Gemmell, first chair french horn, symphonic band.

On March 16, 1974, the Oriole Band participated in the District VII Instrumental Music Festival held at John Battle High school in Bristol. Fifteen bands performed at the event. Eleven of these bands played grade V music, including the Oriole Band. Each band was required to play a prepared march and two other prepared pieces. The Oriole Band performed "Coat of Arms" by George Kenny, "Introduction and Fantasia" by Rex Mitchell, "Chant and Jubilo" by Francis McBeth. The band received a superior rating from each of the three judges at the event. Special recognition should be given to Mr. Propst, the band director, who worked many extra hours to make the band what it was.

Members of the All-Regional band gave a concert at Abington High School on February 3, 1974. The symphonic band was directed by Clarence Sawhill, who is the director emeritus at U.C.L.A. and the concert band was directed by James Copenhaver from Tallahassee, Florida.

The All-Virginia band gave a concert at Herndon High School on April 7, 1974.

GIRLS' PROSE READING IN SCHOOL: Nola VanHoy, first place; Cindy Anderson, third place; Susan Longenecker, second place.

GIRLS' POETRY READING: Ann Davidson, first place; Melissa Jones, second place; Debbie Brown, third place.

In mid January the P.H.S. forensics contests were held. Entrants competed in the areas of extemporaneous speaking, spelling, and prose or poetry reading. The school winners then went on to compete at the district level in February, with only six entries in a possible nine categories. Rudy Rash's ability to discuss current events won him a first in boys' extemporaneous speaking; both Rick Kelly's reading of H. L. Meinken's "Peace on Earth — Why We Have Wars" and Nola Van Hoy's cuttings from the play, The Diary of Anne Frank won them firsts in prose reading. Bruce Kelly's defeat of seven other spellers won him a second. Ann Davidson's excerpt from Longfellow's Evangeline received many comments while Rob Ingram's reading from Thomas Hardy won him a third in the poetry competitions.

The four P.H.S. first and second place district winners then competed at the Region IV meet. From there Nola and Rick's second places carried them on to the state competition at U. Va. in March. There Nola received a second in the toughest contest of all.

As the new year opened, the school year was led by a new administrative staff. Mr. Elmer Huff took over the demanding job of principal. Many new jobs confronted him in his new position; such as, preparing the school calendar, assigning teacher schedules, and planning general faculty meetings.

Mr. Huff arranged and supervised entertaining assembly programs for the students and planned school dances and concerts throughout the year.

Mr. Harold Lambert and Mr. Jim Hickam were promoted to the position of assistant principals. Their main duties were to help with attendance procedures, which included registers, daily marking of student passes, contacting parents, and disciplining students who had attendance problems.

Many, varied duties found their way into the hands of Mrs. Barbara Crockett, Mrs. Patty Williams and student aides in the main office. Mrs. Majella Myers, chemistry teacher at PHS, participated in the duties of the office while working toward her practitioner degree.

Mrs. Carol Golladay, Mrs. Hallie Moody and Mrs. Eunice Gemmell were familiar faces to be seen in the classroom serving as substitute teachers. They were kept on hand as regular substitutes and were as well-known as regular teachers to the students.

Barbara Crockett tabulates the books for the school year.

Patty Williams moves to pick up her candy box. Mrs. Williams is known throughout the school for her delicious homemade candy.

Guidance Department Prepares Students For New High School

Jean Blankenship

The guidance department added a new staff member after Mr. Harold Lambert's promotion. Mr. Dale Conrad was moved to the 11th and 12th grades guidance counselor. Mrs. Jean Blankenship was appointed head of the Guidance Department with additional counseling duties for the 8th grade. Mrs. Faye Hanks became the new 9th and 10th grade counselor.

Working together, the Guidance Department undertook such tasks as parent-teacher conferences, student counseling, special English scheduling, report cards and record-filing.

The guidance department was kept active throughout the year with the registration for PCHS classes.

Qualitative English To Meet Needs

Audrey Burnett

English teachers revised existing programs and wrote new ones to be used at the consolidated high school. The curriculum provided each student with a balanced course of study enabling him to develop to the maximum of his ability, skills in speaking, listening, reading, writing, and viewing.

Many innovative methods were used to provide students with the very best atmosphere for learning. Eighth and ninth graders were involved in team teaching situations. Students in grades 10, 11, and 12 selected their English classes from a variety of media-language and literature electives.

Mrs. Robertson: Radford College, B.S., Latin.

Mrs. Fizer: Roanoke College, B.A., Spanish.

Mr. Freeman: Randolph Macon College, B.A., German.

The Foreign Language department endeavored to give students a taste of foreign customs along with teaching the gramatics of languages.

Mrs. Bird became the full-time French teacher, with Mr. Freeman teaching only German classes.

French III was offered, a combined third and fourth year German class became part of the language curriculum.

Language clubs were also active, with the Spanish club sponsoring a Mexican boy, and the German Club holding its first annual Oktoberfest.

Juanita Robertson, during her planning period, works in the guidance office on a new course of study.

Mr. White: VPI & SU, B.S., Head Basketball Coach, and Varsity Football Coach.

Regular departmental meetings, individualized testing programs, supplementary material, grouping and regrouping, and addition of new classes in basic academic math were some of the means used to continue a complete program of mathematics.

Ten or more classes of math students participated in the Educational Television Programs “Math for Today”. They consisted of fifteen enrichment topics, recommended for students in grades 10, 11, and 12.

Math classes at PHS and DHS were “coordinated” by the faculty members of both schools. Much planning was done to provide a smooth transition when the two schools merged.

Harry Loftus

Under the leadership of Mrs. Joyce Bryant, the physical education teachers developed more than adequate programs in both Health education and Physical education. Mr. Harry Loftus conducted the class-room phase and behind-the-wheel instruction of Driver's Education.

Eighth grade health consisted of studies concerning personal grooming, nutrition, diseases, and current health issues. The ninth grade students received instruction concerning First Aid and the systems of the human body.

The newest trend this year in physical education has been the addition of the girls' interscholastic program which includes varsity competition in Basketball, Gymnastics, and Track and Field.

Mrs. Bryant: Radford College, B.S., Department Head, Sponsor of GAA, Coach of Gymnastics and Track.

Mr. Chapman: East Tennessee State Univ., B.S., Varsity Football Coach, Varsity Baseball Coach.

Business Students Active In New Courses

The business department offered such classes as Stenography Block I and II, Bookkeeping, Record keeping, General Business, and Typing.

One of the main assets of the business department was the VOT program. This enabled students to get jobs in offices downtown during the day, along with their studies.

Students who were enrolled in business courses were able to be active in the Future Business Leaders of America club.

Energy Crisis, Privileges, and Honors Affect Seniors

The excitement of the senior year was only dimmed by the possibility of delayed graduation because of the energy crisis. Excitement ran high each day with senior privileges. They consisted of leaving class five minutes early for lunch, marching into assemblies, and a social hour every morning before school. The excitement continued with the band winning two superior ratings in marching competition. Things really got rolling when the football team won their first New River District Championship. There was no let down as members of the senior class were selected for D.A.R., the Oriole's Nest, and numerous other achievements. The excitement of the fifty-third graduating class of Pulaski High School reached its peak in the spring with the boys' beauty pageant, Sneak Day, and graduation plans.

Testing helps students plan for future

Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Tests were given to the Juniors at the beginning of the school year. These tests were given for students to understand themselves and help them to decide their future studies.

The upper ten percent of the Junior class was chosen to be in the National Junior Honor Society.

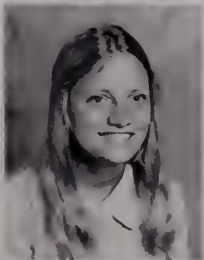

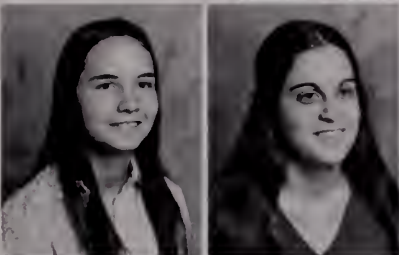

The Juniors were the first class to order their class rings with the new Pulaski County High School insignia.

Activities included the making of their Homecoming float, "Clockwork Orange" which came in third place in judging. Magazine subscriptions were sold by the Juniors to finance the Junior-Senior Prom.

At the end of the year they took the American and College Scholastic Aptitude Tests. These tests are necessary for the admission into college.

Tenth graders work together for winning float

The class of "76" stepped up, as upper classmen they faced new challenges and opportunities. They had the privilege of going to assemblies with the juniors and seniors, and were given the opportunity of attending such clubs as Pep Club, DECA, and FBLA.

This was also a new year for many new subjects such as Drivers Ed, Typing, and Distributive Education.

Homecoming was an exciting event for the sophomores. All of the hard work in the rain paid off when their float, "Sink the Spartans", captured first place in float competition.

Second year interesting and exciting

Billy Alley
Rhonda Arnold

Richard Allison
Jeff Back

The second year of the Class of '77 at Pulaski High School proved to be exciting, and the students weren't bothered by upper classmen as much this year because now they had "been around", Freshmen found that there was more hard work and study. This was the first year for some to take a foreign language such as: German, Spanish, French, and Latin. The students were introduced to Biology. Many looked forward with eagerness to the dissecting, while others moaned with upset stomachs.

This year Homecoming came all too soon but the Freshman Class got together during the cold weather and soaking rain to come up with a float; "Spear the Spartans".

This was the first year for many 9th Grade students to participate in the "Big Band". All the kids were elated and some scared at the thought of band camp where they were initiated and sold as slaves to the upperclassmen—to carry horns, be last in meal line and clean their rooms. Everyone was proud at performing in the "Best and Last Band at Pulaski High School."

August 23rd. The sun was just peeping out from behind the clouds. Buses started to run, and soon shouts of nervous and anxious laughter filled the halls of Pulaski High School.

The "Class of '78" began a whole new life "on the Hill". The changing of classes, pep rallies, and assemblies gave them a real taste of high school life.

The 8th grade class was the last class to go to the traditional high school and will be the first to go all the way through the new comprehensive high school.

ACTIVITIES

Dances, Projects, Unity

Karen Hanks discusses one of her stories for the paper with Mr. Shaw.

This year's Student Cooperative Association, the last at Pulaski High School, has tried to make this one of the best years ever. Homecoming was a big success. The S.C.A. treasury was much more stable than in previous years.

The S.C.A. again published the Guide Book, which provided students with the rules of the school, as well as a copy of the school constitution and teacher's schedules. The Guide Book contained a floor plan of the buildings, which was valuable to new students and eighth graders.

The S.C.A. sponsored a Goodwill project this year. Goodwill bags were distributed to all students in English classes; those who wished to fill these bags with clothing, toys, etc., were asked to give their addresses to the S.C.A. The bags were then picked up at the student's home.

For the first time in the history of P.H.S., the S.C.A. had their own radio show. Heard weekly on W.B.L.B., Sunday afternoons at 2:30, it featured members of the S.C.A., speakers and special features, interspersed with music.

It was hoped that this show would draw the attention of a larger audience, not only including students and parents, but other residents of Pulaski, bringing everyone up to date on what was happening at P.H.S., promoting a greater interest in school activities. Hopefully, it also brought about a better understanding between students and administration.

Because of the success of the Homecoming Dance and the Get-Acquainted Hop, the S.C.A. decided to hold more dances this year. Informal dances were very popular with the student body.

Annual Staff Publishes Last Oriole

The staff consisted of seventeen people who worked to make the last Oriole the best one ever. The staff worked many hours on Monday nights to meet their deadlines.

Several members attended a workshop at the University of Virginia in October. The senior members and a few others went to the Delmar Studio in Charlotte, North Carolina in the middle of November to take their second deadline pages and to tour the plant.

One new feature of the annual was the use of collages for division pages. This was taken on as an entire staff project.

The annual staff sold refreshments during a country music show sponsored by the policemen. They also sold charms taken from the individual pictures made by Max Ward of Delmar Studios. These projects were done to help financing of the book.

The Pulaski High School Newspaper Staff printed several eight page issues under the new name of "The Joe Oriole Review". The paper featured new techniques and layouts, including a different full page drawing on the cover of each issue.

The staff members, sponsored by Mr. Thomas Wuest, did all the writing, proof reading, and layouts themselves. Several members as well as Mr. Wuest attended the Fall Journalism Workshop at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville, where many new ideas were brought back and put into effect.

Key Club Sponsored By Local Kiwanians

The Key Club was a service organization for young men sponsored by the local Kiwanis Club, which is composed of the leading business and professional men of the community. Through this sponsorship and the associations developed, a member learned more about his community and how it functioned.

The Key Club was unique for its aim in the development of initiative, leadership ability, and good citizenship practices. Last, but by no means least, was the uniqueness of the Key Club service program. It provided the school and community with many services, such as helping with the Bloodmobile program, raising and lowering the flags each day, and assistance with community flood relief.

Mr. John Columbus, local Kiwanian sponsor, makes plans with Mr. Lily, Mr. Davis, school sponsors, and Rick Congrove for Key Club Convention.

FTA Teach Classes

FTA members work in preparing material for the Forensics workshop.

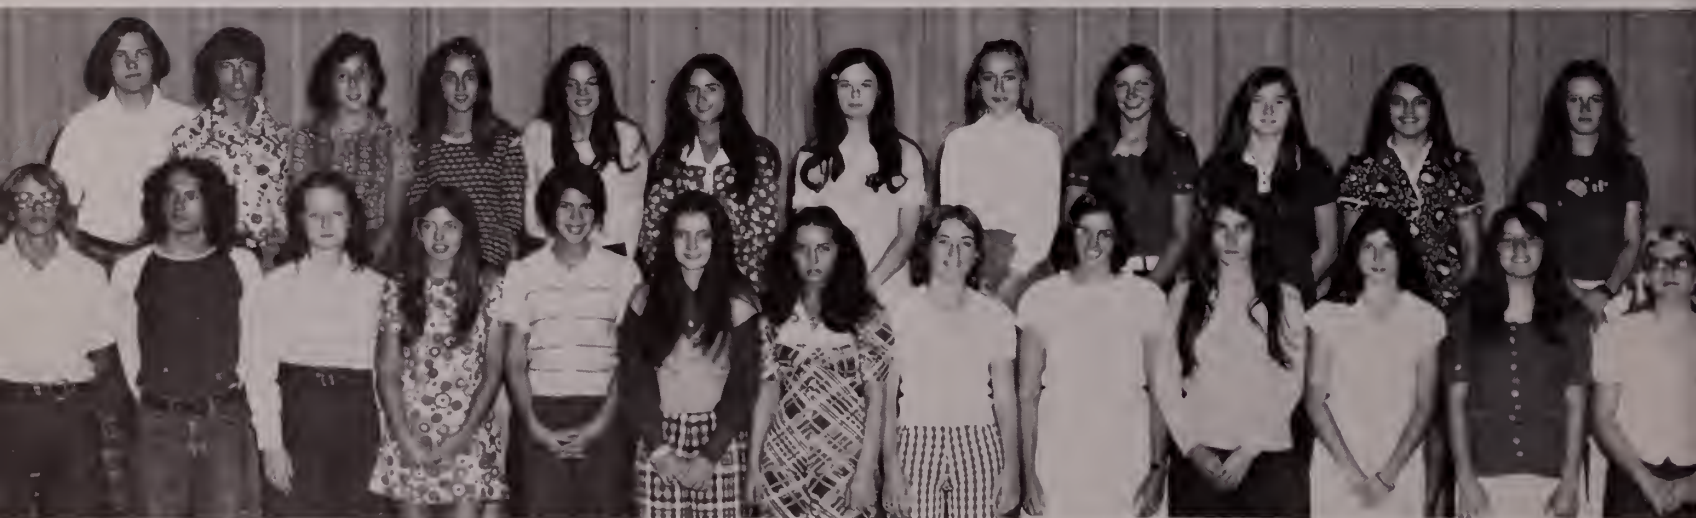

Field trips, special education, and making programs were just a few of the activities involving the Future Teachers of America. The members also sponsored the Forensics Workshop held at Pulaski.

The club learned many of the methods of teaching and during one class period the members taught various classes.

Mrs. Freeman was the sponsor for the FTA.

Library Club Aids Students

The Library Club was created to assist in the operation of the library. The club aided students in locating material they need from the library.

Some goals planned by the club involved becoming familiar with the information contained in the library and developing competency in using it. Club members also worked with audio-visual equipment.

They gained experience and deftness of the equipment through frequent use and practice. Activities for the year emphasized personal enrichment through the use of books and sharing experiences.

Standing: Edna Jackson, Secretary; Janice Rupe, Vice-President; Cutis Rupe, Carol Clark, Anita Pearce, Pam Schrader, Chaplain; Twila Douthat, President; Debra Rorrer, Sharon Lawson, Donna Kesling. Kneeling: Brenda Alderman and Kathy French.

Mrs. E. Hullinger, sponsor; MariLou Floyd, Marian Arnold, Mark Vaughan, Sam Skeens, Terry Meade, Mike Heneley, Dennis Gravley and Curtis Carrico.

VICA Promotes Job Interest

The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) is an integral part of the curriculum of the ICT Program and provides students with the opportunity to practice leadership, development skills, engage in job related contests, and work with others as a member of a team with a common goal.

The main goal was to increase interest and desire within members to have an active and viable club for the 73-74 year.

Activities included outside speakers from business and industry, community service projects and an Employee-Employer Banquet.

Members Develop Skills

Ernie Peak, Timmy Linkous, and Mary Ann White are winners in the poster contest.

Scholastic Achievement Recognized

Ruth Bird, Doris Dula, Sponsors; Linda Bowers, Debra Carter, Gray Turman, president; Kurt Tonkin, Ann Davidson, vice-president.

The National Junior Honor Society was composed of members whose scholastic average was in the top ten percent of their class.

The purpose of the club was to encourage high scholastic achievement to develop leadership and to promote good citizenship.

The principal project for the year was to render service in as many ways as possible to the residents of the Fairview Nursing Home.

The National Honor Society decorated the stage for the Miss P.H.S. pageant as one of its many projects.

The National Honor Society was composed of the top ten percent of the present senior class. The members were chosen during the second semester of their junior year.

Activities for the year included the co-ordination of the Miss P.H.S. pageant. Other duties that the members performed were giving a scholarship, inducting new members at the end of the year, and the organization of a Christmas Service Project.

Council Seeks To Improve Relations

The Human Relations Council was an organization that served as an advisory board to the SCA. The purpose of the Human Relations Council was to listen to and discuss racial troubles and grievances; to improve relations between racial or ethnical groups, and to improve student-faculty relations. Problems or grievances by students or faculty could be voiced at Council sessions. Council membership was determined by the student body.

Jim Lark, Lynetta Patterson, Ronnie McClanghan and Leon Myers listen to students' opinions.

Science Interests Futhered

The Science Club proved of value to many students in furthering their knowledge of the sciences. Learning experiences were provided through individual research projects, nature field trips, and visits to colleges and universities in the surrounding area.

The club had service projects for the Science Department and participated in the Virginia Junior Academy of Science. Community service was provided through ecologically-minded groups such as PRIDE.

During the year the Science Club went to the Morehead Planetarium located on the campus of the University of North Carolina. It contributed to cleaning up the environment by picking up trash along the roadside. Guest speakers provided many interesting discussions through the year.

The German Club was composed of 39 members who have completed two or more years of German. The main objective of the club was to maintain and further the interest in matters pertaining to German language, history, and culture. The club participated in many activities, including an Oktober Fest. At this activity numerous authentic German foods were prepared by members of the club. Other activities enjoyed by the members were Christmas caroling and writing to German pen pals.

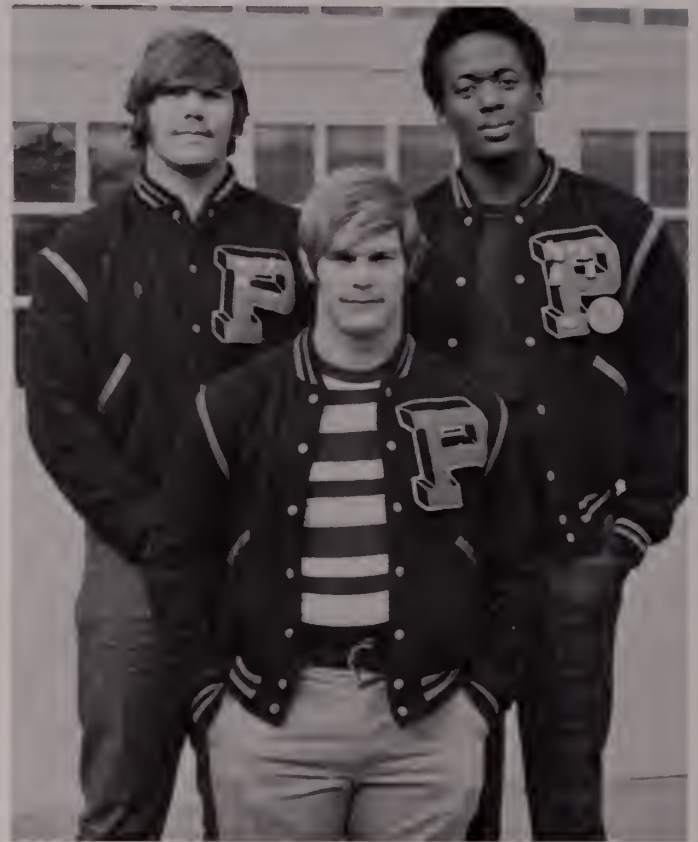

The German Club's sponsor, Mr. Freeman, talks to the members of the club.

Athletic Achievements Honored

Right: Ron Tyree, Billy Hogans, and Terry Hughes are winners of the club's cushion sale.

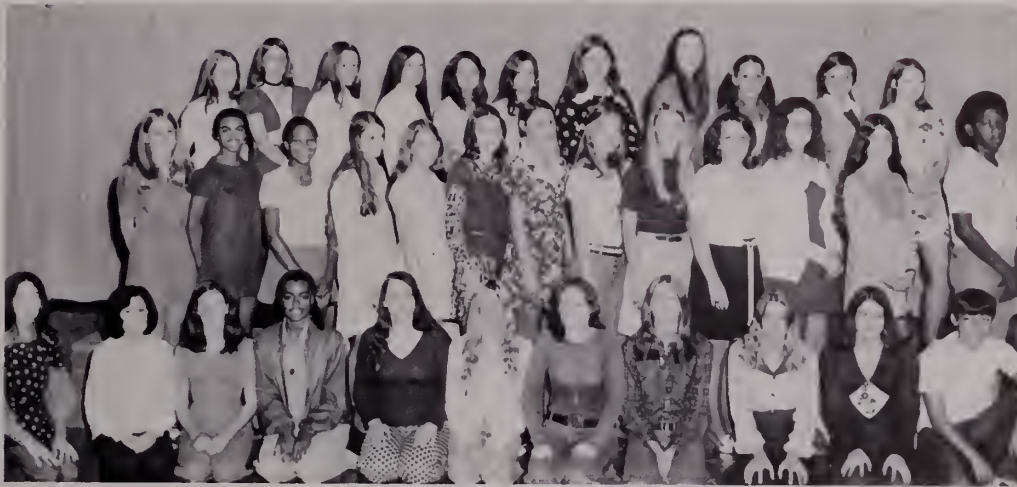

Athletic achievements served to unify members of the Monogram Club. Members of the club could say that they were the last group to wear the most cherished P.

The Oriole lettermen supported many events. They sold cushions and sponsored a banquet to honor athletes who shared the best sportsmanship. Letters and awards were also presented at this banquet.

Front Row: Rick Harvey, Greg Callahan, Raymond Rudisill, Eddie Woodyard, James Morehead, Danny Dalton, John Baker, Kurt Tonkin. Through FBLA business students developed a better understanding of what the business world would be like.

FBLA was a fairly new organization at Pulaski High School. The club was open to any student who is enrolled in two or more business courses.

Members of the club worked hard to sell Christmas tree ornaments, calendars, and were involved in other fund-raising projects to help send members to regional and state conventions. The club participated in spelling, public speaking, typing, and shorthand on the regional level.

The club also sponsored a Walk-A-Thon with Dublin High School to help the March of Dimes and sold trash bags.

In June of 1973 two club members, Joanne Montgomery and Kay Spence went to Massanetta Spring in Harrisonburg, Virginia to a Leadership Training Conference. The club hopes to send two more representatives during the present school year. The FBLA had a banquet at the close of school to end the year.

DECA Provides Opportunity

Each Distributive Education student enrolled in the high school program was eligible for membership in the local D.E. Club, the Virginia Association of Distributive Education Clubs and the Distributive Education Clubs of America (D.E.C.A.). Since the purposes of the club paralleled the purposes of the Distributive Education program itself, the club provided an opportunity for leadership development and, at the same time, developed a concept of the importance of membership in the professional groups which function in distribution.

The specific purposes of the Distributive Education Club were:

- To develop economic literacy.
- To develop vocational competency.
- To develop leadership ability.
- To develop civic consciousness.

The goals and activities planned for the year included field trips to the New Tanglewood Mall in Roanoke and the Kroger Distribution Center in Salem. Also planned was an Employee-Employer Banquet at the end of the year.

Among those employers attending the club banquet were Mr. Terry Jennings, Roses; Mr. Steve Smith, Advance Store; Mr. Allen Powell, Roses; Mrs. Shirley Umberger, Roses; and Mr. Rod Moses, Coleman's.

In Learning Leadership Qualities

One activity enjoyed by the club was their participation in a district meet at Claytor Lake.

Randy Queen (center) receives the most coveted DE award from Mr. Hosp and Mr. Viers.

Kathy Jones prepares for the Mother-Daughter Banquet.

Learning to be a better person and homemaker were the main objectives of the Future Homemakers of America.

Projects for the year included making a float for the miniature parade during Homecoming. They later served refreshments at the Homecoming Dance. Around Halloween and on other noted dates, the teachers' table in the cafeteria was brightly decorated by the F.H.A. The members also put up a bulletin board. Bake sales were held and the students sold Stanley products as money making projects.

Christmas proved to be a warm, friendly time for the girls. They visited Coe's Nursing Home, taking with them refreshments for the residents. Everyone joined into the gaiety of the occasion by singing Christmas carols.

The girls cooked and decorated the tables for their Mother-Daughter banquet.

Classof '78 Backs Teams

The members of the club alternated as cheerleaders for eighth grade sports such as football.

The Spirit of '78 was organized in the fall of 1973 as a spirit group to provide support for the eighth grade athletic teams.

The group was composed of 42 eighth grade girls who were interested in promoting enthusiasm, spirit and support for their class.

The club's goals were:

1. Promote school spirit.
2. Friendship among class members.
3. To become an integral part of school activities.
4. Support eighth grade sports and activities through organized cheering.
5. Promoting good sportsmanship.

Activities participated in by the club were cheering at home games and creating displays to recognize teams for other eighth grade interests.

The Oriole band supported and enhanced all school activities and community events. Officers for the last Oriole Band were: Robert Gemmell, president; Tim Ratcliffe, vice-president; Carol Tickle, secretary; Karen Hanks, treasurer; and Susan Deaton, reporter.

The band earned a first division rating at the Chilhowie Apple Blossom Marching Festival at Chilhowie, Va. in September and also at the Western Carolina University Marching Festival at Cullowhee, N. C. in October. This was the first time the Oriole Band ever made two first division ratings in marching competition within one year.

The band played for the kick-off of the United Way Campaign and also they participated in the ground breaking of White Motor Company in early October. During the year they sold such things as doughnuts and tootsie roll candy banks to help raise money for their many activities.

The band performed at halftime at the football games, marched in parades, and played during the pep rallies and religious assemblies. There were also opportunities to try out for the all-regional band, and to participate in the Solo and Ensemble Festival held in the spring. The band went to District Festival in March and gave their annual Spring Concert at the conclusion of the year.

The Girls' Athletic Association worked to encourage a spirit of good sportsmanship, enthusiasm, and co-operation among the students. It was composed of girls from the eighth through twelfth grades who were interested in all aspects of the P.E. program of the school.

The goal of the members was to earn a G.A.A. letter. To obtain this letter, one had to acquire a standard of 1500 points. The first bar was earned by acquiring 2200 points, second bar — 2800 points, star — 3200 points and the crescent, which was the highest achievement point wise — 4500 points. These points were earned by the various activities sponsored by G.A.A., such as bake sales, selling projects, committees, intramural sports held after school, and through the interscholastic sports sponsored by the club. This year these intramural sports consisted of hockey, speedball, basketball, volleyball, softball, track and field, gymnastics, flag football, kickball, and the individual sports such as horseshoes, badminton, table tennis, and bowling.

The interscholastic sports which the girls were lucky enough to have this year were basketball, track and field, and gymnastics.

Another of the major activities of the club was the banquet held at the end of the year. At this event, various awards were presented. The Marietta Burchett Memorial Sportsmanship award was given to the senior girl with a minimum of three years membership in G.A.A. This girl not only participated in the club activities, but must have shown good sportsmanship at all times, including school functions and have held a Christian attitude toward girls' athletic functions.

The club meets to discuss possible money making projects.

Quarterback Mike Mabry runs the triple-option.

The "Explosion '73" started on the first day of practice but never died down throughout the season. Although the brotherhood were stunned by George Wythe in their first game (16-16), they came back the next weeks of practice working for perfection. The next two games against Christiansburg and Blacksburg proved that the triple-option would be one of the Orioles' greatest assets. After winning the Homecoming game over Giles and defeating Narrows, the Birds had a weeks layoff to prepare for their encounter with greatly improved Carroll County. And then came Radford, the defending AA state champions. The Brotherhood could not quite get it all together and were defeated by the Bobcats. A startling upset over undefeated Galax 51-11 reassured the student body and the team of the strength and ability they had. After defeating helpless Floyd, the Brotherhood came to their last game against arch-rival Dublin. At this point the Orioles had to win and Blacksburg had to upset Number one Galax. Then Pulaski would win the New River District title by half a game. The Orioles had everything going for them and believed in themselves. The halftime score of the Pulaski-Dublin game was 8-3, but Dublin scored early in the third quarter to take the lead 11-8, the Orioles knew that they had to win and put all efforts to come back and "roll over" Dublin, 16-11, and became district champions.

Orioles Win District!

Yes, it has happened! The Orioles have won the New River District championship, doing it in a very astonishing way.

As the season was coming to an end, the birds were still in second place behind once-beaten Galax. To win the district, the brotherhood had to defeat Dublin, and Galax had to lose.

This is the way it happened. The Orioles beat Dublin, and Galax lost to Blacksburg, thus, putting the "Orange Machine" in first place.

Under the excellent coaching staff, made up of Coach Jim Hickam, Coach Butch White, and Coach Jim Chapman, the Orioles proved to all that they were number one.

Coach Jim Hickam ponders the referee's decision.

The Junior Varsity football team, coached by Don Skeen, and Ernest Compton, was made up of mostly freshmen and sophomores. The Junior Varsity ended one of its better seasons with a record of five wins and two losses.

The J.V.'s opened their season with a close game with Blacksburg, losing by the score of 14-8. The Orioles then defeated Carroll County, but another close game against Radford marked the second blemish on the record. The rest of the season was a bit easier. In the rest of the games the Orioles were able to defeat their opponents; Dublin, Giles, Fort Chiswell, and Galax.

This year the Varsity Cheerleaders have worked to make the '73-74 year a successful season.

In July, the cheerleaders attended cheerleading camp at Virginia Intermont College in Bristol, Virginia where they had an exciting week. The girls learned new cheers, pom pom routines and chants. Before returning home the squad received the Spirit Award of the camp, first, second, and third place ribbons and a first place trophy given for excellent cheering ability.

The last year of P. H. S. has been extra special for the cheerleaders, cheering for the best teams Pulaski has ever had.

This year the 1973-74 Junior Varsity Cheerleaders were full of spirit and enthusiasm. They attended cheerleading camp in Lynchburg, Virginia. They received two outstanding ribbons along with one excellent and one superior. They made many new friends and became closer to one another. They had long, hard practices during the summer and after school and helped lead their mighty J. V. teams to many victories. They cheered in many pep rallies and also participated in the Homecoming Parade. They were headed by Trisha Garrison and co-Captains were Allison Haller and Elaine Leggett.

The Eighth Grade Football team, under the coaching of Garland Earhart and Bill Hager, went undefeated this year and won the district championship. The “Baby Birds” opened their season with Blacksburg and won the game by a score of 21-6. They then traveled to Carroll County to defeat the Cavilers by 40 points. The Orioles then played Radford, winning the game by the “skin of their teeth”. After this game the Orioles season was a bit easier, winning all games by no less than 13 points.

The “Baby Birds” scored 169 points against opponents, and 28 points were scored against them. This proved to be one of the best Eighth Grade teams in the history of Pulaski High School.

Coach Butch White discusses the game strategy with Coach Wuest, Rick Harvey, and Randy Dickenson as Frank Baldwin looks on.

They say: the last, the best. This holds true for the varsity basketball team. In the last year before consolidation, the Orioles put together special efforts to accomplish this feat, one which included scoring 100 points in one game. The varsity basketball team concluded this season with a record of fourteen wins and six losses.

The Orioles started off with a bang by being selected as the number one team in the district. This meant that the birds were the "bull's-eye" on the district board.

At the end of the first half of the season, the Oriole record stood at seven wins and three losses, which were to the top three teams in the district.

After many hard fought games the Orioles astonishingly defeated the Blacksburg Indians only to loose to Carroll County by one point. After another loss to Galax the Orioles were upset by Giles. The Birds then were able to defeat Floyd. The last game of the regular season was with Dublin. This was the last time the two schools would meet due to the upcoming consolidation.

Hal Reynolds, closely guarded by his Blackburg opponents, concentrates on scoring for the Orioles in the championship game. This was not only the last game for the seniors, but it was also the last for the rest of the team.

The Junior Varsity basketball team, under the excellent coaching of Tom Wuest, concluded one of the most successful seasons in the history of the school.

The first half of the season the J.V.'s had only lost one game and were in first place. Many of these "cliff-hanging" games went into overtime and were always close. But the second half of the season was not as easy. Many of the teams had improved and would be harder to defeat, but the Orioles pulled through and ended the season with only four losses.

And it Began . . . For Girl's Basketball

Pulaski Orioles are seen battling against Dublin Dukes in the first and last girl's basketball game between the two schools. Next year they will be a combined team in the new P.C.H.S.

For the first time ever Pulaski had a girl's basketball team. Even though the girls haven't had as much experience and success as the male basketball players, they did work just as hard as any basketball team that ever won a district championship. Led by Ruthie Patterson, captain, and coached by Miss Jane Harris the girls worked to prove that Women's Lib is on the way up.

Practicing for the upcoming games, Donna Black shoots two for the girls.

Gymnastics Team Improves

Terri Hodgson smiles with confidence as she balances herself on the balance beam.

Betty Ann Roope performs a difficult stunt on the vault.

in Second Year

This was the second year that the Girls' Gymnastics Team was a part of the Inter-Scholastic Competition. The 1974 team was tri-captained by Senior, Dendy Haller, and Juniors, Tami O'Dell and Karen Boulton. Girls' Gymnastics Competition was conducted in four areas: floor exercise, balance beam, uneven Parallel bars, and vaulting. For the first time all girls competing performed both a compulsory and an optional routine. The compulsory routines were made up by the National Federation of Gymnastics. The optional routines were original creations patterned by the girls. The execution of the optional routines were most important, as even a very simple routine done well could score quite high. Judges looked for body posture, carriage and alignment — and the elegance and sureness of the gymnast in executing the routine.

Competition in gymnastics was an individual effort of each of the girls. Each girl knew her own strength and weakness, and worked accordingly. It required an extreme amount of self-discipline, determination, and hard work. Excelling in an area required all three of these factors, and it was only after performing numerous times, that a gymnast obtained confidence and sureness in herself.

Jeanine Lemons, Susan Newsome, Nancy Roberts, and Jenny Boulton, are members of the vaulting section on the JV gymnastics team.

Jeannie Whitman practices for her competition on the uneven parallel bars.

A class prophecy

Ten years from now, when you pick up this annual, you will have access to at least 15 new electric appliances that don't even exist today!

Electrical innovations will "make the scene" (as we say in 1974) to benefit health, education, industry and our social lives. You'll also see in the next decade more electronic equipment to purify, filter, recycle and generally clean up America.

Electricity is doing a lot of things for you now. It's going to do a lot more tomorrow. Our prediction: Life will keep on getting better — electrically.
